Dear Friends,

When a disabled veteran or first responder is paired with a guide or service dog, the two embark on a transformative journey. An assistance dog can’t change someone’s past, but it can help them change their future. And this transformation isn’t limited to the individual: when the dog joins the family, the entire dynamic improves. In fact, a dog from America’s VetDogs has the potential to have a positive impact on hundreds of people.

When President George H.W. Bush passed away in November 2018, a photo of his service dog Sully received national and international attention. We were besieged with media requests. Interest in Sully remained constant for several months and still remains high today. The dog returned to the VetDogs campus before taking

You can't go back and change the beginning, but you can start where you are and change the ending.
— C.S. Lewis
on a new mission with the facility dog program at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center in February 2019. In his new role, Sully will touch the lives of hundreds of veterans, their families, and staff.

Camden, our puppy with a purpose who was part of the NBC puppy squad, wrapped up her time in Baltimore and returned to us for formal training as a service dog in June 2019. (She was placed with a disabled veteran in September 2019, in our new fiscal year.)

We underwent our five-year assessments by the International Guide Dog Federation and Assistance Dogs International. The purpose of an assessment is to ensure we consistently follow the highest standards for the humane and ethical treatment of the dogs in our programs, maintain educational benchmarks for trainers and apprentices, and have procedures in place for consumers during the application and acceptance process. We were once again reaccredited by both international regulatory bodies.

In fiscal 2018, we increased our ranking with GuideStar, moving from Silver to Gold to Platinum. We’re proud to report that America’s VetDogs has once again earned the Platinum Seal of Transparency for 2019.

During this fiscal year, we trained and placed a record number of assistance dogs. Whether it’s a service dog, a guide dog, or a facility dog, we’re proud to serve veterans and first responders with disabilities.

Thank you for helping us to change their future!

Sincerely,

Don Dea
Chair of the Board

President and Chief Executive Officer

This year, we’ve revamped the look of the annual report and included more visual representations of our accomplishments so you can see at a glance the successful year we had.

Program Accomplishments

Dog Training

America’s VetDogs serves veterans and first responders from all generations. In fiscal 2018, we trained and provided service dog Sully to work with President George H.W. Bush. After the former president passed away, Sully was re-assigned to Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, where he joined fellow VetDogs facility dogs Dillon and Truman. In his new role, Sully has hundreds of interactions with wounded service members and veterans and their families during their rehabilitation.

VetDogs continued its partnership with NBC and the TODAY morning show. As part of its “puppy with a purpose” program, puppy Camden was raised on WBAL-TV in Baltimore, Maryland. Camden returned to the VetDogs campus at the end of the fiscal year to continue her advanced training as a service dog. (She was placed with a disabled veteran in September 2019.) The other two puppies to follow a service dog curriculum – Brady in Boston and Zuma in Los Angeles – were released from all programs and adopted by their puppy raisers.

In fiscal 2019, America’s VetDogs underwent its annual five-year accreditations with the International Guide Dog Federation and Assistance Dogs International. The IGDF visited us in October 2018 to observe our training practices and to interview graduates and staff to determine if we met all IGDF standards. Following on the heels of IGDF was ADI, whose assessors came out in November to perform their assessment. We received notice in January 2019 that VetDogs had been reaccredited by both organizations.

Our CATs & Dogs program continues to grow at blind rehabilitation centers at the Department of Veterans Affairs. The 10-day inpatient program is designed to provide veterans who are blind or visually impaired with guide dog training (Dog) while the VA assists with computer access training (CAT). From its beginnings at Biloxi, Mississippi, the program has expanded to blind rehab centers in Cleveland, Ohio, and Waco, Texas.

In an effort to meet the ever-increasing demand for our service dogs, two of our guide dog instructors joined our service dog team, and we added two new service dog instructors.

We placed a facility dog at Andrews Air Force Base, and we believe this placement could lead to a relationship similar to the one we have with Walter Reed National Military Medical Center. We also completed a high-profile placement with Rear Adm. Anne Swap, who serves as commander of Navy Medicine East and senior market manager, Tidewater Military Health System, in Virginia.
Breeding & Puppy Program

In fiscal 2019, we continued to expand our prison puppy program. Our newest prison – the Maryland Correctional Institution for Women – came online in February 2019 with three puppies.

Our prison puppy programs are successful in large part thanks to the efforts of the prison staff members who oversee them. Each prison has a liaison who works for their state’s department of corrections and volunteers to make sure our puppies are being well cared for and trained on a daily basis. To help them manage these responsibilities, we host an annual prison puppy workshop.

Weekend puppy raisers are a vital component of the prison puppy program. These volunteers pick up puppies at the prison on Friday and return them on Monday. Over the weekend, the pups get to experience the sights and sounds of the outside world.

In October 2018, U.S. Senator Chuck Schumer (NY) asked us to provide information about the VA benefits for veterans with psychological service dogs. This was a wonderful opportunity to discuss our collaborative work with the Department of Veterans Affairs on the “dog of record” program and the importance of international accreditation as a quality standard for service dog teams.

In fiscal 2019, we began a pilot partnership with Stop Soldier Suicide, a nonprofit resource center to help service members, veterans, and their families take control of their emotional and behavioral health. While applicants wait for a dog match, they work with a case manager to achieve goals that will enhance their ability to successfully partner with a dog. Goals range from maintaining sobriety, to establishing a consistent program of behavioral health support with a qualified professional, to improving stability in one or more areas of a current living situation.

Under the supervision of board member Pamela Linden, a group of occupational therapy students from the Stony Brook School of Health Technology and Management completed a capstone project that provided a preliminary client screening risk assessment tool for use by our organizational consumer selection committees.

Our Consumer Services and Field Services teams had

18,700 points of contact* with program applicants, graduates, and members of their support networks (agencies, medical professionals, and family members)

Fundraising and Development

America’s VetDogs hosts three major fundraising events during the year: the VetDogs golf classic; run and dog walk in Maryland; and run and dog walk on Long Island.

The 4th Annual Long Island Run & Dog Walk was held once again at Old Bethpage Village Restoration in Plainview, New York. The event grossed over $74,000, with more than 400 participants.

The 9th Annual VetDogs Golf Classic, in August 2018, netted more than $200,000, which was a new record for the event. Our special guests for the event were VetDogs graduates retired Air Force Staff Sergeant Stacy Pearsall, who received Charlie, the TODAY show puppy with a purpose, and retired Army Specialist Jason Ditzler and his hearing dog, Edgar. This event sells out every year.

The annual Maryland Run and Dog Walk moved from Annapolis to Baltimore this fiscal year. The event, held on April 28, 2019, was hosted by THE AVENUE at White Marsh. Retired Marine Gunnery Sgt. Alex van Bruekelen was our guest speaker. More than 400 people attended, and we grossed over $61,000.

Our community fundraising partnerships continue to be strong. We are fortunate to have the assistance of so many individuals and community groups who hold their own fundraising events to benefit America’s VetDogs.

During fiscal 2019, we signed with a new planned giving firm, Crescendo. Crescendo produces a wide range of planned giving materials that we can provide to our donors that will help them as they set up their estate plans to support America’s VetDogs.
To increase our fundraising avenues, we launched a three-month digital advertising campaign to drive website traffic, engagement, donations, and revenue.

VetDogs also launched a Google Grants campaign. Google Grants is a donation program that distributes free in-kind advertising (up to $10,000 per month) to select 501(c) not-for-profit organizations.

Direct mail is one of our primary income streams that generates current revenues, and allows us to build relationships and engage with donors for continued support. An “acquisition” mailing is one in which we reach out to potential new donors, while a “renewal” mailing targets our existing donors.

Workplace giving and the Combined Federal Campaign are ways donors can support America’s VetDogs through payroll deductions. Advertising and appearances at CFC events are avenues that allow us to reach the largest number of people. For this fiscal year, our participation in the CFC and other workplace giving programs raised more than $225,000, more than $100,000 over last year.

Our cause-related marketing campaigns, in which we work with corporate partners, continue to be an important component of our fundraising efforts.

America’s VetDogs does not receive regular government funding, but we are awarded special grants on a case-by-case basis. We received a grant of $764,000 to cover costs associated with the production of service and guide dog teams for disabled veterans and first responders. This grant was awarded through the federal Wounded Warrior Service Dog Program, which is administered by the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences.
Public Education

In fiscal 2018, America’s VetDogs placed service dog Sully with George H.W. Bush. When the former president passed away in November 2018, a photo of Sully lying by Bush’s casket was posted on social media by a member of the Bush staff with the caption “Mission complete.” The photo went viral. Interest in Sully and America’s VetDogs skyrocketed and remained high for several months. We successfully managed the media interest to educate the public about service dogs and how important they are for disabled veterans. In February 2019, Sully became a member of the facility dog program at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center in Bethesda, Maryland, with the rank of Hospital Corpsman Second Class.

VetDogs continued its partnership with NBC and the TODAY morning show. As part of its “puppy with a purpose” program, puppy Camden was raised on the air at WBAL-TV in Baltimore. She returned to the VetDogs campus at the end of the fiscal year to continue her advanced training as a service dog. (She was placed with a disabled veteran in September 2019.)

America’s VetDogs graduates were featured in Marvel Comics’ web series, Marvel Make Me a Hero. Graduates Stacy Pearsall and Charlie and Joseph Worley and Galaxie were reimagined as comic book superheroes.

We once again partnered with HISTORY for the Take a Veteran to School program in November 2018. As part of this education program, VetDogs graduate and veterans liaison Joseph Worley spoke to three classes of third-, fourth-, and fifth-graders at PS 64 in Manhattan.

We also participated in the Intrepid Sea, Air & Space Museum’s annual Fleet Week activities for Memorial Day weekend 2019. The museum staff estimated there were about 25,000 visitors on Saturday and Sunday.
We host regular “meet and greets” in the correctional institutions where we have prison puppy programs. We invite local area donors to meet VetDogs representatives, volunteers, and prison staff, learn about the prison puppy program, and tour the facility. A VetDogs graduate usually addresses the crowd to share how their life has been changed thanks to their new guide or service dog.

Staff and graduates of America’s VetDogs attend national veterans conventions to educate attendees about our programs and services, to recruit potential new students, and to build new relationships.

We attended the annual Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) convention in July 2018, which was held in Kansas City, Missouri, and the American Legion convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota, in August. Joseph Worley, veterans relations liaison, and Jason Ditzler, represented VetDogs at both conventions. Joe and Jason are VetDogs graduates.

Dennis and Felix were teamed together in September 2018. Felix has been trained to provide a barrier from the front and side if Dennis feels he needs the extra personal space. The dog has also been trained for nightmare interruption and to “get help.” Since he and Felix became a team, Dennis says he can go out without issue, and he is comfortable speaking in crowds now. “Every day I learn something new about him; he teaches me.”
Major Donors

The following individuals, foundations, and corporations have made gifts of $10,000 and above to America’s VetDogs during the fiscal year 2019. We are grateful for their support of our mission to serve people with disabilities.

Jo-Ann Rodriguez
U.S. Army ★ Service Dog: Hickok

Jo-Ann comes from a military family, so it was a natural for her to follow in their footsteps and serve her country. She enlisted in the Army and served as a second lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps during the first Gulf War. In 1990, she was diagnosed with an autoimmune disease that eventually required the use of a wheelchair. She partnered with service dog Hickok in June 2017. He has been trained to perform a variety of tasks such as retrieving items, opening doors, and providing bracing and counterbalance when she walks. “Hickok has given me his unconditional love and brought happiness back to my life. Now I can say I’m back on track.”
